

Intent

Protecting the privacy and confidentiality of personal information is an important aspect of the way Knell's conducts its business. Collecting, using, and disclosing personal information in an appropriate, responsible, and ethical manner is fundamental to the Company's daily operations.

The company strives to protect and respect personal information of its customers, employees, business partners, and so on in accordance with all applicable statutory requirements. All employees must abide by the procedures and practices set out below while handling personal information.

Guidelines

This policy outlines the company's commitment to privacy and establishes the methods by which privacy is ensured

Personal information is any factual or subjective identifying information about an individual or group of individuals. This can include name, date of birth, address, income, e-mail address, social insurance number, gender, evaluations, credit records, and so forth.

Business information is confidential information related to a specific business that is not readily available to the public, such as names of executive officers, business registration numbers, proprietary information, and financial status. Business information is treated and handled with the same level of confidentiality, privacy, and respect as personal information.

Consent occurs and is considered obtained by Knell's when an individual provides express consent orally, in writing, or through an applicable online action. Before being asked to provide consent, individuals will be provided with the reasons their personal information is being collected, how it will be used and stored, and any disclosure or possible disclosure of the information.

Implied consent is granted by the individual where consent may reasonably be inferred from the action or inaction of the individual. Where possible, this should always be followed up by a Knell's representative to obtain express consent.

- Implied consent is granted by the individual when they sign an application or form. This allows the Company to obtain or verify information from third parties (such as banks, credit bureaus, lenders, or insurance companies) in the process of assessing the eligibility of an individual, customer, client, job applicant, or business partner.
- Implied consent is granted by using the Company Website.

Information we collect and/or maintain

- We collect and use personal data to process sales and services transaction or inquiries; to employ staff and to satisfy government and regulatory obligations.
- Information is collected from you when you place an order in person, by phone or fill out an on-line form. When ordering or signing on our website, as appropriate, you may be asked to enter personal information such as: name, e-mail address, mailing address or phone number. It's Your Choice – interact with us how it suits you best. If you choose not to use the Internet/website to provide personal information you can contact us by telephone, fax, mail or in person. (Not all options may be available in every situation.)

Policy Statements

Knell's assumes full accountability for the personal information within its possession and control. The company has appointed the Executive Team as custodian of all privacy matters and legal compliance with privacy laws.

In the course of conducting its business, the company may have to obtain personal information directly from the individual to whom the information belongs. Individuals whose personal information is being collected are at all times entitled to know how the company uses their personal information and that the use of any personal information collected is limited to only what is needed for those stated purposes. If necessary, the Company will obtain individual consent if personal information is to be used for any other purpose.

The company will not use that information without the consent of the individual.

Under no circumstances will the company sell, distribute, or otherwise disclose personal information, including personal contact information or employee lists, to third parties, unless required to do so by law. This may include consultants, suppliers, or business partners of the company, but only with the understanding that these parties obey and abide by this policy, to the extent necessary of fulfilling their own business duties and day-to-day operations.

The company will retain personal information only for the duration it is needed for conducting its business and ensuring statutory compliance. Once personal information is no longer required, it will be destroyed promptly, safely, and securely. However, certain laws may require that certain personal information be kept for a specified amount of time. Where this is the case, the law will supersede this policy.

The company will take every reasonable precaution to protect personal information with appropriate security measures, physical safeguards, and electronic precautions. The company maintains personal information through a combination of paper and electronic files. Where required by legislation or disaster recovery or business continuity policies, older records may be stored in a secure, offsite location.

Knell's will ensure:

- Access to personal information is authorized only for the employees and other agents of the company who require the information to perform their job duties, and to those otherwise authorized by law;
- The company's computer network systems and databases are secured by complex passwords and firewalls to which only authorized individuals may access;
- Active physical files are kept in locked filing cabinets;
- Routers and servers connected to the Internet are protected by a firewall, and are further protected against virus attacks or "snooping" by sufficient software solutions;
- Personal information is not transferred to employees, volunteers, summer students, or any other person in the company unless authorized.

This Privacy Policy informs of our commitment to privacy and establishes the methods by which privacy is ensured. This Privacy Policy applies to all personal information within the Company's possession and control including our website.
